Millionaire's Humor.
Baron Gustave de Rothschild had a pleasant mixture of caution and wagery. Once while in the synagogue his neighbor suddenly plucked him by the sleeve and whispered hoarsely, "I have come away this morning without locking the safe!" "Don't worry," replied Rothschild, looking round at the vast congregation, "we are all of us here!"

Sounds Reasonable.
"If you want to communicate with the spirits," remarked Jocular Jim, "I suppose the first thing to do is to learn the dead languages."—Browning's Magazine.

Important Thing to Know.
It is easy to understand why the nation is willing that millions be spent on a weather bureau. If we can only foretell through weather experts, goose bone prophets, corn husk prognosticators or in any other way just what the weather will be from day to day, living will be made a great deal easier for us all. We can get the hay in out of that thunderstorm or hold up that shipment of perishable stuff that a solid freeze and zero weather will utterly ruin.

Real Life.
The mintage of wisdom is to know that rest is rust, and that real life is in love, laughter and work.—Elbert Hubbard.

Preferred Jail to Marriage.
A country judge in England has just delivered the most sentimental decision ever heard of in his particular "neck of the woods." He told a burglar he would suspend sentence on him if he would agree to marry and settle down or get a dog or canary in order to have something to work for. Oddly enough, the burglar couldn't see it that way, and took a year's imprisonment instead.

Statesmen and Politicians.
A statesman is merely a politician with whom we agree. Neither is necessarily a leader of progress. Both are flies on the wheel, and we honor them in direct proportion to their riding ability.—Life.
